Powderly, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, and Ignatuis Donnelly, on behalf of the Farmers of the Northwest.

The convention will not get down to business before Tuesday morning.

FROM JEFFERSON TO BRICE.

The call for a national Democratic convention, is signed "Calvin S. Brice, chairman," asking all citizens who favor "pure, economical and constitutional government" to unite with the democracy. Where are the principles of Jeffersonian Democracy? They are certainly not represented by the national Democratic party, if a man who is attorney for the Standard Oil monopoly, who is one of the principal owners in the Briceville, Tenn. mines, where convict labor starves out honest men is the typical representative of the party. What perversion, what degeneracy, what a land slide from Jefferson to Brice! The same Brice whose large fortune is invested in railroad stock, well watered, and the people paying the dividend thereof. The same Brice whose domicile is in New York City, and his office on Wall Street, but who represents Ohio in the United States senate. This is the man who stands sponsor for "pure, economical and constitutional government," and the Democratic party, the great party of the people recognizes the leadership of such a man. If the management of the National Democratic party does not change, the pure Democrats will leave it. If the pure Democrats take hold of the party and bring back the principles of Jefferson, the plutocrats will leave it. Which shall it be?

The Asheville Citizen says: The anti-Pinkerton bill has passed the New York assembly. It prohibits the hiring by corporations of any private detective. 'Twould be a good thing if every State in the union had such a law and the many alleged "detectives" frozen out. In the main, Pinkerton's crowd is a set unfit to have anything to do with the execution of the law. As to the "private detective," he can never be relied on to detect anything more important than may be a hunk of boarding house butter. Yet they are allowed to carry pistols—and in fact, I expect many of them join the e agencies just to get the privilege of carrying a gun. The ordinary "detective" of to-day is what might be termed a Loo-loo.

A resolution has been introduced in Congress by Hon. Thomas Watson, of Georgia, to investigate the Pinkerton Agency, but it met with opposition from men like Oates and will probably be laid aside with many other good measures.

The Earl of Chatham, England's greatest statesman, once said, "Show me the laws of a country and I will show you the condition of its people."

You may talk as you please, and swear like you wish, but governments will always be as bad as the people allow them to be.

Bossism must cease to be the order of the day. The people are tired of it.

The farming that pays seem to pay the wrong man.

WHO PAYS THE TARIFF TAX.

The value of our dutiable imports and the amount of duties collected have been as follows during the past five years:

	Dutiable imports.	Duties collected,	Average rate of duty.
1887	$450,325,322	$214,222,310	47.10
1888	468,143,774	216,042,256	45.63
1889	484,856,768	220,576,989	45.13
1890	507,571,764	226,540,036	44.41
1891	466,455,173	215,903,729	46.28
Total	$2 377,352,801	$1.093,285,320	46.40

The value of imports subject to duty given above are the sum of the values of the goods at the place of purchase, that is the prices at which the goods are offered for sale to any one in foreign markets. The duties collected represents the tax which is imposed on these goods by the United States at its custom houses.

Who has paid into the treasury of the United States $1,093,285,320 during the past five years? It was certainly paid by one of the five parties concerned in the importation of the $2,377,352,801 worth of goods, either by the importer or the foreign manufacturer.

If the importer paid these duties he added the amount to the price of the goods, and, as Mr. Depew says, the tariff tax "rested on the bottom" that is, was paid by the consumer.

But Mr. Foster, the secretary of the treasury, says that the foreigner pays the tariff tax for the privilege of selling his goods in our markets. If his view is the right one, the foreigner has during the past five years been doing a most unprofitable business in exporting goods to the United States, for every dollar's worth of goods which he sends here he pays not only the cost of handling, insurance and freight, which amount to, say, five cents, but also 46.4 cents in duties to the United States. His net return, therefore, when he sells his goods here, is only 48.6 cents.

Is any one stupid enough to believe that this is true? If foreigners send their goods to the United States, do they not do it because they can get more for them here than where they were made? If this is true the consumer in the United States, not the foreign manufacturer, pays the tariff tax. Which view of the matter is the more unreasonable one?

SOME CLEVELAND QUESTIONS.

What do You Think of them?

Did Cleveland in his letter of acceptance declare against a second term, and did he afterwards accept a nomination for a second term? Did Cleveland write a letter on civil service reform to G. W. Curtis, and did he afterwards keep in office thousands of republicans who had opposed his election and the principles of democracy, when there were thousands of democrats who had worked for his election and the principles of democracy fully competent to fill them? Did Cleveland order the restoration of the battle flags of the South to the Southern States from whose soldiers they had been taken, and in a few days afterwards countermand that order because of the Northern outcry? Did Cleveland send a message to congress on the very eve of a presidential election advocating radical tariff changes, on which the campaign was fought and lost by the democracy? Do Cleveland's friends call him the "Moses" of his party?

If the difference in the votes cast in 1888 for State officers in New York and those cast in that state for presidential electors is the evidence of the betrayal of Cleveland, what will account for a corresponding difference in the votes cast for state officers and presidential electors in Connecticut, Virginia, W. Virginia, Indiana, Arkansas and Missouri? Did Hill do all that too? When Campbell was defeated in Ohio last November, certain Cleveland democrats charged Hill with it, and yet last week a poll of the Ohio legislature showed that Hill has twice as many supporters there as Cleveland. —Cor. in Asheville Democrat.

THE CLEAR RING.

The Progressive Farmer says the people of Chicago conceived a great plan for a royal visit from the American Congress. They sent a luminous invitation to each member of Congress, to visit that city on the 22d instant and tendered the use of trains, free passes, the hospitality of the city, etc. They were even so considerate as to send a return envelope and a neat "response card" on which to write the answer. Our own Grady wrote his reply as follows:

"If Chicago can pay the expenses of members of Congress as proposed, would it not be advisable to spend that amount on the Exposition rather than suggest the suspicion that this is an effort to influence the action of members on the $5,000,000 loan proposition.

NOTES AND ITEMS FROM CONGRESS AND WHAT IT IS DOING.

Some Bills Introduced--Personal Mention.

The Tariff bill will be called up for discussion in House March 1st.

Speaker Crisp, who has not yet recovered from his case of the grippe, is at Fortress Monroe for a few days.

Congress was not in session for three or four days last week.

Mr. Palmer's speech in favor of the constitutional amendment for the election of Senators by the people and Mr. Sherman's resolution foreshadowing the introduction of a bill to meet the case of the Italian prisoners killed in the New Orleans parish prison were the chief features of the morning's business in the Senate last week.

Democratic absentees are giving the leaders of the House a great deal of trouble, and now that the serious business of the session is getting before the House the continuation of this practice will prove very embarrassing, as it enables the Republicans to tie the House up at any time by refusing to vote, thus breaking a quorum, as was done several times this week.

Congress, or as many of its members as can spare the time from important committee work, left here Friday for Chicago, as guests of the World's Fair committee of that city, returning next Wednesday morning.

Representative Rayner, of Maryland, this week delivered one of the strongest speeches against trusts ever heard on the floor of the House. He reminded the Republicans that neither the Inter-state Commerce law nor the Sherman Act, passed at the last session of Congress, had prevented the continued formation of the trusts and combinations which it was their alleged purpose to eradicate, that trusts still blossomed and flourished as they accumulate in every commercial centre; that they still defied the law and the jurisdiction and mandates of the courts, and that they still, with arrogant front and bold pretensions, executed their purposes without the slightest fear of inflicted punishment or the slightest concern about any encroachment upon their prerogative. They are so powerful and influential that the legislatures of the States seem to tremble at their presence, and the Congress of the United States had stood by with folded hands and permitted them, with an iron heel, to trample upon the rights of the people.

The House committee on election of President and Vice-President and Representatives in Congress Monday agreed to report a bill leaving the election of Senators to the people and conferring exclusive power on the State Legislatures to fix the times, places and manner of holding such elections.

In addition to the bill introduced in the House by Representative Grady, of North Carolina, proposing a reduction of the salaries of government officials, Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, has introduced one which provides for a reduction of 20 per cent. on all salaries amounting to $5,000 or more and a reduction of 10 per cent. on all salaries exceeding $800.

A bill is to be introduced to put a tax of $10 per thousand on cigarettes. The tax is now fifty cents per thousand.

Gossip on the House side of the Capital has it that the Pacific Coast members of both parties are exceedingly jealous lest the eastern members shall share any of the credit of restrictive Chinese legislation. It is rumored by some of the Congressmen who opposed Mr. Mills for the speakership are anxious to make him show his hand on the silver question before the senatorial election in Texas. The report whice is to accompany the bill adopted by the ways and means committee of the House in favor of free twine has been prepared. Mr. Denby, United States minister to China, has made a report to the State Department of the recent insurrection in that country. There will be a general observance of the 22d of February in the District. A bill for the better regulation of the liquor traffic in the District has been introduced in the House of Representatives. The House committee on labor will introduce a resolution investigating the operation of the eight-hour law. The committee holds that it should be strictly enforced.

The United States Senate yesterday adopted a resolution for the return to the republic of Mexico of twenty-one flags captured during the war with Mexico. The Idaho senatorial contested case was further debated. The House, in committee of the whole, considered the Indian appropriation bill.

YOU ARE INTERESTED.

There is no reason why there should be any prejudice existing among any classes against the Alliance. The object of the organization is to secure reforms in the management of national affairs. It does not seek to destroy any legitimate business interest. Every merchant, every doctor and every lawyer, is directly interested in the success of agriculture, for when it becomes unprofitable all classes suffer. If you are not a member of the Alliance you should join if elegible, if you are not none the less should you throw your influence with the organization to secure reform upon which your prosperity as well as the farmer's depends.—Tarboro Advocate.

GREAT PROSPERITY.

"Our debts represent our investments and our mortgages are an evidence of our prosperity." So said the Kansas republican league, and so has re-echoed many republican orators and papers during the past year. We have just learned that one land loan agency, late of Huron, has within the past week commenced foreclosure proceedings on 65 mortgages in Brown county alone, and almost as many in Spink county. This only represents a small portion of the homes that are being lost through that prosperity of which a mortgage is an evidence. A great many who are threatened with foreclosure, knowing that they cannot redeem their farms, are induced to give up possession on receipt of $25 to $50. Then the boomers point to the payment of that mortgage as another evidence of prosperity. Here then is quadruple evidence of prosperity:

1st. Contracting the debt.
2nd. Giving a mortgage for it.
3rd. Giving a deed of the farm to pay the debt and raise the mortgage.
4th. Take to the road a homeless tramp.

Great is our prosperity—from Shylock's point of observation.—Dakota Resident.

A CASE OF CONTEMPT.

An old farmer from one of the back counties was the defendant in a suit for a piece of land, and he had been making a strong fight for it, says the Detroit Free Press. When the attorney for the other side began his speech he said:

"May it please the court, I take the ground—"

The old farmer jumped up and sung out:

"What's that? What's that?"

The judge called him down.

"May it please the court," began the attorney again, not noticing the interruption, "I take the ground—"

"No, I'll bed—d if you do, either," shouted the old farmer, "anyhow not until the court decides the case."

The fine for contempt was remitted later.

SQUIRMING AND DODGING.

The Republican party through its platforms and teachings for a quarter of a century has lead its people to believe that it was in favor of free coinage. The Democratic party has done the same thing. They have preached it on the hustings, pleaded for it through their papers, and proclaimed it in their platforms. They have denounced the fraud and treachery and duplicity, through which silver was demonetized in 1873 and yet we find to-day both these parties squirming and dodging and in every way that is disgraceful and cowardly, trying to evade the loud demand of the people for free and unlimited coinage of silver.—Progressive Farmer.

President Polk in his last annual message predicted that they would do that very thing.

THE WHISKEY FIGHT.

Legal papers have been served upon the commissioners of Mecklenburg to appear before Judge Bynum on Tuesday, the 23, and show cause why licenses should not be granted to certain applicants. The commissioners in various counties have been refusing applicants for license wholly on the ground that no man who applies for a license to sell liquor can have a good moral character.—State Chronicle.

REAL CHRISTIANITY.

REV. THOMAS DIXON ON THE UNFAIRNESS OF SOME CRITICS.

A Prelude on the Bill Pending in the New York Legislature Authorizing the Sale of Liquor on Sunday—How Colonel Ingersoll Attacks a Fanciful Thing.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., preceded the sermon in Association hall this morning by reviewing the question involved in the bill now pending in the New York legislature proposed by the liquor dealers, which grants practically free whisky every day and Sunday too. He said:

It is a dark day in the history of the great temperance reform. Apparently the saloon is about to master the forces of our Christian civilization. Everywhere the saloon is aggressive and triumphant. The reason for this is not far to seek. The forces of temperance are sadly divided. The Prohibitionist sullenly maintains his position upon the rock of ultimate truth and demands annihilation or nothing. The high license man carries a razor in his boot for the Prohibitionist. Our little church temperance organizations spread out their wares and declare they are the only genuine reformers and all others are base imitations. Our Catholic brethren work within their own lines. Meantime the devil laughs and grows fat, rides into power on every popular wave, makes legislatures and governors his puppets.

HELL UNITED.

It is Christendom divided against Hell united.

The liquor dealers of New York have met in solemn council and drafted a bill to suit themselves, which they have presented to the New York legislature. It will vastly surprise me if their puppets do not obey their requests to the letter. They modestly demand that all the liquor laws passed during the last quarter of a century shall be repealed. They want saloons opened on Sundays, concert halls and dives opened all day and all night, free whisky at all hours at public "bowls," protection from the possibility of police interference, the repeal of the civil damage act, the free right to sell to boys and girls, and all license fees reduced to next to nothing.

I must confess that I admire the sublime cheek of these men. Think for a moment of the daring of a set of chronic violators of law—that is, habitual criminals—meeting and drafting a bill granting themselves immunity in the prosecution of crime and demanding the police power of the state to protect them while they are about it.

THE LICENSE HUMBUG.

I confess to the secret hope and prayer that they will succeed in passing this law and give us free whisky for a season. It seems to me it will be for our good. First, because it will be a shock to the miserable factions of a temperance guerrilla war that will bring unity out of chaos; second, because the whole license system is a humbug and a lie. It is a delusion and a snare. It is wrong in principle and utterly devilish in practice. For the state to go into partnership with the manufacturers of criminals is for the state to commit suicide. Go into partnership with the devil—he always owns the whole concern.

If it is right to license the whisky business it is right to license the lottery swindle—the lottery is a mild evil in comparison. The lottery takes in $20,000,000 a year. Our whisky bill last year was $1,200,000,000—600 times more! A bill is now pending before this same legislature to license prostitution in New York state. If rum is licensed why not license all crime? If the system is right and good we cannot have too much of a good thing. The enforcement of the license system is the grandest farce of the times. It is said that prohibition could not be enforced. Prohibition is always enforced better than the excise system. The grand jury humorously and pathetically petitioned the legislature last year to repeal the excise laws and relieve them of thousands of cases that would never be tried! To indict a liquor dealer under the present excise laws is a joke. Everybody knows this.

Why not repeal the farce and give us free whisky awhile? It is estimated by conservative men that there are between 2,000 and 3,000 unlicensed drinking places today in New York city alone! Why continue such a travesty on law? The back door of every saloon is open on Sunday. Why not open the front one and thus lessen its power in politics at least? Why should we be ostrich reformers? Why deceive ourselves?

Let them pass their law. They will abolish a swindle and give us the benefit of a storm of moral wrath and the air will be purified. Free whisky or prohibition are the ultimate issues. They had as well be joined now as later. Let the war begin.

COLONEL INGERSOLL'S IGNORANCE.

I am come that they may have life.—John x, 10.

He that believeth on the Son hath the life.—I John v, 12.

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.—Matthew vii, 21.

A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another.—John xiii, 34.

For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Galatians v, 14.

In the colonel's recent broadside he attempts a definition of Christianity. The errors in this definition are so fundamental that it is impossible to proceed further in our discussion until we point out these mistakes and give a definition which may be used as a standard when we refer to Christianity. He says "Christianity is a code of morals." He then proceeds to declare that Christianity is responsible for persecution and murder, and declares that "If the founder of Christianity had plainly said 'It is not necessary to believe in order to be saved; it is only necessary to do, and he who really loves his fellow men, who is kind, honest, just and charitable, is to be forever blest'—if he had only said that, there would probably have been but little persecution. Now, falling back on the old assertion, 'By its fruits we may know Christianity,' then I think we are justified in saying that, as Christianity consists of a mixture of morality and something else, and as morality never has persecuted a human being, and as Christianity has persecuted millions, the cause of the persecution must be the some thing else that was added to morality."

IGNORANCE PATHETIC.

The blunder of such a definition of Christianity reveals the fact that Colonel Ingersoll is so ignorant of what real Christianity is that it is impossible for him to give of it an intelligent definition. Let us again clearly emphasize the fact that the Christianity of tradition and history is one thing and the Christianity of the Christ is another. The force of Colonel Ingersoll's assault is always found in his attack upon historic perversions of true Christianity. When he assails narrowness and bigotry and superstition and ecclesiasticism, he is on solid ground. I heartily agree with many of the positions he has taken upon these questions, but the Christianity of Christ is one thing and the historic perversions of that Christianity entirely another thing.

This definition is an attempt to give us the meaning of real Christianity. At least, upon the surface, such would be the impression of the ordinary reader. The colonel therein displays ignorance profound, painful, pathetic. Such a blunder vitiates all that may follow based upon such a conception. His testimony, after such a definition of real Christianity, is absolutely worthless. Parts of what he says may be partly the truth, and yet it is a half truth that is the farthest removed from the real truth. You may so accent that which is true that it may be the very antithesis of the truth.

WHY ROME BURNED.

The colonel here reminds me of the boy who was studying history. His teacher told him that the "Emperor Nero played the fiddle while Rome burned." He went home and told his mother that the "Emperor Nero was playing the fiddle—so they burned Rome!" The language he used was almost identical with the language of the teacher, and yet the boy declared that they burned Rome because they did not like the tune that Nero played. He almost got it right. But in almost stating the truth he missed it the more completely.

And yet we must not judge the colonel too harshly. We cannot demand too much of a man who makes no profession of Christianity. Especially we must not be severe in judgment upon the failure of such a man to know true Christianity when we remember the tragic blunders of the apostles themselves. Christ's own chosen followers misunderstood him up to the very day of his death. They drew their swords and attempted to defend him by force. He had to rebuke them and to explain again that his kingdom was not of this world; not of force, but of the spirit. His leading disciples were found wrangling over the first places in the kingdom temporal which they supposed he had come to establish.

Though they lived thus in daily contact with Christ, so far above their range of vision was his real mission that not until after his death did the meaning of his words begin to dawn upon their souls. When we remember how his own chosen misunderstood him, and his professed followers have belied their professions and have failed to understand his mission through the years of the past, and have committed so many crimes in his sacred name, we must not be too harsh in our judgment of such a man as Ingersoll if he fail to find the secret of the great heart of the true Christ. The failures of men through all these ages to comprehend the height and depth and glory of his mission only bring out in bold relief the sublime proportions of the truth that he came to teach.

What is the Christianity of Christ? What is the Christianity for which this church stands today, for which I as a minister am striving? I do not ask what has been taught in the past about Christianity by theologians and expounders of systems of philosophy—I ask what is the Christianity for which the living church strives and stands in this hour of the Nineteenth century?

The Christianity of Christ is that heart faith which manifests itself in a life of love, love to God and man, love to God through love to man.

DEVILS BELIEVE.

First—We say it is a heart faith. "With the heart man believeth." Christian faith is not a feat of the intellect over a philosophic proposition. It is an attitude of the soul. Devils believe. Belief in itself does not constitute Christianity. A man may believe any system of theology he may select, and have nothing of Christ in his heart or life. Theology is of the head. Religion is of the heart. Theology is a science. Religion is a life. Man is not merely what he believes. A creed in itself has no necessary connection with conduct. A man may believe all things as an intellectual fact and accept nothing connected therewith as a moral fact. He may accept every dogma of the historic creeds of all the ages and yet have within a heart as black as hell. Intellectual belief plays upon the surface of life. It does not touch the center of man's being. With the heart man believeth. "Out of the heart are the issues of life."

BEHIND A HAYSTACK.

A man's professions of creeds or philosophies may be one thing, his actual character another. Profession, in fact, may or may not signify reality. Is a man a soldier and patriot? He professes to be a soldier. He wears a uniform. He has epaulets on his shoulders. He has brass buttons on his coat, a stripe down his pantaloons, a belt with an emblazoned buckle strapped with his sword. But is he a soldier? He professes to be one. We can only learn whether he is when we see him in the fight. Now the battle is joined. Across the plains the opposing hosts charge upon each other with deadly fury. The field is swept with storms of bullets, shot and shell. Now walk over the field and you will find the soldiers. On such an occasion, a commander passing over the field found a subordinate officer crouching behind a haystack. Turning upon him, he demanded, "What sort of a place is this for you, sir?" The reply that greeted him was, "Why, do you really think the bullets can come through?" This man wore the full uniform of battle. He had on all the accouterments of war; but he was as far removed from a soldier as though he had been a thousand miles removed from that battlefield.

Belief about Christian history and dogma is not Christianity. Belief about the questions of doctrine do not constitute Christianity. A man may believe everything that is stated in dogmatic theology about the Atonement and yet have no part in it. A man may believe that the Bible is true, the whole of it is true and inspired, and yet in life he may deny every truth taught in it. A man

A HISTORY OF OUR PRIVATE SCHOOLS.

Prospects For The Future.

Mr. Editor: I propose to write a few articles for THE CAUCASIAN if they are acceptable,

In this paper I shall refer to the private schools of the county. In future papers I shall speak of the public schools, public school teachers, school houses, and the general improvements in the various brauches of industry, in the different parts of the county.

SALEM HIGH SCHOOL.

In January, 1875, the writer left Warsaw, came to Salem and organized Salem High School, in Honeycutt's township. This school has been in successful operation for the last seventeen years. Ever since the writer gave up the school it has been conducted by "Salem boys," those who were prepard for College in this institution.

First, Marion Butler, now President of the State Alliance, had charge of the school for several years, and made it a success. It is now under the management of Geo. E. Butler, who was a small boy in the school, when it was first opened. He and Miss Janie Evans, his assistant, are making the school well worthy of patronage, and it is now in a prosperous condition.

BELLEVOIR HIGH SCHOOL.

This school is also in Honeycutt's township and was successfully conducted for several years by Mr. J. D. Ezzell, who did good work here. Mr. Hendsen the present principal has now an excellent school at this place.

PINEY GREEN HIGH SCHOOL.

And still another school in Honeycutt's township. Piney Green High School is now progressing finely in its first session, under the leadership of Mr. G. I. Smith, an experienced and model teacher. Here, near Piney Grove church, is a good building in a section heretofore devoid of school facilities. This school is destined to do much toward the mental and moral improvement of the entire community.

HAYNE ACADEMY.

This school is in Little Coharie township and is presided over by Mr. Street Brewer, a first-class instructor, and by his energy and good work many are being trained for the various duties of life. Heretofore educational facilities were not in reach of many in this section who are now receiving the benefits of a good practical education.

SOUTH RIVER BAPTIST INSTITUTE.

This institution is in Little Coharie township, and is known as the school of the South River Association. The good, substantial and convenient building was erected by Capt. James L. Autry, at his own expense, and the use of it tendered to the South River Association as long as they maintain a Baptist school. It is now in a flourishing condition under the management of Mr. D. T. Oates and Miss Venie J. Bizzell.

GOSHEN HIGH SCHOOL.

In the land of "Goshen," in Piney Grove township, and in one of the most thrifty and industrious section of the country and near one of the largest churches is Goshen High School, conducted by Mr. J. D. Ezzell, a veteran and successful teacher. This school is doing much in educating the boys and girls of this community.

UNION ACADEMY.

In Franklin township is Union Academy, built several years ago, but has at times been without a school. There have been several good schools taught here by W. M. Shaw, W. W. Holding, Isaac Fort and Mrs. Lucas. Miss Kathleen Elmore, a progressive teacher, is doing good work there now.

INGOLD ACADEMY.

In Lisbon township near the beautiful village of Ingold is an excellent school building, which is a credit to the enterprise, good judgment and liberality of the citizens in and around Ingold. "Tom" Sloan holds the post here, and with Miss Berta Marshburn in the primaries and Miss Muriel Richardson to give instruction in music, he is making his school rank with any of similar grades. At the request of Mr. Sloan I visited the school, sometime ago, and was delighted with the thoroughness of the work and the progress the children, of all grades was making.

BEAVER DAM ACADEMY.

In Newton Grove township is another new school. Beaver Dam Academy is now in her first session under the principalship of Mr. Jno. E. Fowler, a progressive young man, reaching out her arms and gathering in the boys and girls to by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HOW CAN SUCH THINGS BE?

Rich in everything except money, and poor with everything for the want of money. This is the condition of the South to-day. It is the condition of the farmer. Money is not wealth. It simply represents wealth. It is a convenient medium for exchanging wealth. Our people have the wealth and would be prosperous if they had this convenient medium for exchanging the wealth. Then is it not a crime in the government not to furnish it? Is it not a crime to turn over the managing of this essential instrument of commerce to a few individuals and allow them to manage it for their own private gain to the detriment of every wealth-producer in the land? Is it not a crime to allow high rates of interest to be charged so that the profits of honest and hard-working toilers are eaten up by the money lenders? Yes, it is a crime, and a crime that must soon stop or complete degradation and poverty will dry up the springs of prosperity at its very source, and then revolution would come. Which shall it be? These are momentous questions for the voter and the statesman.

THE KEY TO PURE DEMOCRACY.

The Atlanta Constitution in discussing the political outlook and the probable nominees for the Presidency says:

"The candidate must of necessity be satisfactory to New York - therefore, the candidate that New York selects or settles on will be selected by the Democratic convention."

We hope the Constitution does not speak for the people of Georgia. A candidate that is satisfactory to New York will not be satisfactory to North Carolina, nor do we believe to the whole South and West. The convention may nominate the man New York selects, but his chances of being elected would be very doubtful. For a quarter of a century, we have had a kind of harmony between the New England Democracy(?) and and Southern Democracy, by the South in every case submitting to the dictation of New England. In this way we have ourselves been parties to fostering a system that has worked great discrimination and detriment to our section. Shall we do it longer? For one we will not. The candidate that is satisfactory to New York is unsatisfactory to us. We want a candidate who by education, experience and training is in sympathy with the interests of the South and West, the two sections whose interests are identical and who must fight together for equal justice. The Democracy of the future must champion the cause of the South and West.

HISTORY OF FINANCIAL LEGISLATION FOR THIRTY YEARS.

The article that appeared in THE CAUCASIAN a few weeks ago in reference to the infamous bond swindle, by which the public debt was greatly increased, by which more taxes were levied upon the people without value received, and by which the bond-holders and bankers have pocketed millions of dollars, has attracted much attention. We have been asked and received letters calling for more information on this line. It is difficult to explain or to understand the infamous and corrupt legislation that has been perpetrated upon the people, unless the various measures are taken up and consecutively considered in connection. Therefore as soon as we can find the time, we will begin a series of articles on the Financial Legislation of the Government for the last thirty years. If our readers will follow these articles closely they will get a considerable insight to the corruption at Washington and the causes that have in a large measure brought about the present depressed condition of affairs.

Heroic Annie Bender.

Annie Bender, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Bender, of St. Clair street, did an act Wednesday afternoon that was worthy of a strong and courageous man, and may thereby have saved two lives.

Some time Wednesday afternoon flames were noticed on the roof of Claus Steffens' house. Neighbors rushed hastily over to alarm box 248, but the department was hindered by the awful roads from reaching the house promptly.

In a bed on the second floor of the house, directly under the blazing roof, lay Mrs. Steffens and her two-day-old infant. Several women rushed up stairs to carry Mrs. Steffens and her baby out, but a physician, who had just arrived, forbade it. He said the fire was not spreading rapidly, and the fire department would probably reach the house in a moment. The minutes went rapidly by and the engines did not come.

Then Miss Bender resolved to act. She placed a ladder against the eaves, seized an ax and climbed to the roof. With a score of blows she chopped away the shingles from around the flames, which had then spread but a few inches from the chimney. She worked with all her might and main and soon had all the inflammable material cut away.

While she was thus engaged two other young women stood by Mrs. Steffens' bedside, and determined to remain there until it became evident that the house would burn, when they would carry her down stairs.

Just as Miss Bender finished her work hook and ladder company 6, from the new fire station on Windsor avenue, came, the wheels covered with mud and the horses foaming and perspiring from their hard pull through the horrible streets. A few minutes' work with the extinguishers put out the fire with no very great loss.

Miss Bender's brave act no doubt prevented a serious destruction of property, if not, indeed, the loss of the two helpless lives just beneath the roof.—Cleveland World.

REAL CHRISTIANITY.

may believe in the divinity of Christ as an historic fact and yet crucify Christ every hour in his life. Some of the truest Christians in this world know absolutely nothing about the questions that agitate the world of theology and criticism. In fact, they have never read the Bible. Some of the truest Christians I know in the world are men and women who cannot read at all, who have no idea about the Trinity or Predestination or Election or Atonement as philosophic concepts, and yet their hearts are one with God.

THE RICH YOUNG MAN.

Jesus Christ never promised salvation to any man for believing anything about himself. The rich young man came to Christ and asked him the pointed question, "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He declared that he had kept the Judaic code of morals to the letter. All the commandments from his youth up he had scrupulously obeyed. But Christianity was more than a code of morals. Jesus gave him distinctly to understand that fact. When he asked Christ this pointed question about the way of eternal life, what did the Master answer? Did he say, "If you believe in the inspiration of the Old Testament you will be saved?" No. Did he say, "If you believe that I am divine you can inherit eternal life?" No. His answer startled the young man as it should startle the creed tinker of every age. Looking into the face of this inquirer for eternal life we hear these wonderful words, "Go sell all thou hast and give to the poor." The young man went away exceeding sorrowful, for he had great possessions. Jesus with that single question pierced to the very center of his heart life and laid bare its covetous secrets.

STRIPED MODELS.

A mere code of morals may be perfectly practiced and not signify purity of heart. To say Christianity is a code of morals is to fail to comprehend the very alphabet of the truth which Jesus came to teach. There are men in the state of New York who form model communities. We have several of these model communities where a perfect code of morals is practiced—regular habits, regular sleep, wholesome food taken in proper quantities, regular hours to rise and retire. In fact, these people conform perfectly to the outer code of upright, moral men. But we give them no credit because they wear striped clothes. Every penitentiary is a community whose citizens practice an ideal code of morals in life, so far as they can within the limitation of the walls. But it signifies nothing, because it is practiced for reasons external rather than internal.

Second—Such a heart faith always manifests itself in life. Colonel Ingersoll says that if the founder of Christianity had only plainly said, in so many words, "It is not necessary to believe in order to be saved; it is only necessary to do," all would have been well. He fairly takes our breath away with such a statement. It reveals the fact, that with all the colonel's years of assault upon the New Testament, he has never read it. No man who had read the New Testament Scriptures could have made so foolish an assertion.

CHRISTIANITY A LIFE.

This is precisely what Christ did say in so many words.

"Not every one that sayeth unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." "Inasmuch as ye did it not, depart." "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me. Enter thou into the kingdom prepared before the foundation of the world." In other words, Christ directly taught that the heart faith which is of the essence of his religion always embodied itself in life.

Christianity is a life. The Bible is a book of life. Therefore the Bible is a book of eternal power. It will ever stir and move and save the lives of men. It is alive, because it throbs with the life of the race, with the life of God as unfolded in the race. The Bible is not a systematic theology. It does not profess to set forth for the guidance of the mind of man a systematized and consistent scheme of philosophy. Strip the Bible of the rubbish of traditionalism, and there can be read into it no systematic scheme of sacred philosophy. It is the simple record of life. It contains contradictions, paradoxes, mysteries. These contradictions are the contradictions of life. The paradoxes are the paradoxes of life. Its mysteries are the mysteries of life. As the secrets of life elude the scalpel of the surgeon and the biologist, so the secrets of divine life elude the dissecting knife of the keenest philosopher or theologian.

GOD IN FLESH.

The supremacy of Christian truth is not based on any philosophy taught by Jesus Christ. It rests upon the personality of Christ. His creed was his life. He did not come into the world to talk about truth. He was the truth. The only supreme truth is that embodied in life. No man who knows anything about the subject of comparative religion today pretends to deny that the divine is found in all religions. Much that Jesus taught had been taught before. God had not left the world in total darkess before the advent of Christ. He had spoken to all races and to all peoples. The unique personality of Jesus consists in the fact that he summed up in life the truth that was thus gathered from the four quarters of the earth and from the remotest ages. He incarnated the truth. He lived the truth. Abstract truth is the commonest thing in the world; it is everywhere. It grows on the housetop. It is the commonest sound in the street. But abstract truth does not save a world until it is embodied in flesh and blood.

Herein we find the secret of the incarnation, the necessity for the incarnation, the secret of the power of the incarnation. God, who had spoken to the race through divers prophets in the past, now in the fullness of time spoke to man through man, through the incarnation of truth. When that Man came in human history, who truly said, "I am the way, the truth and the life," he came to whom every knee must bow at last and every tongue confess. Such a man is his own vindication. Christ is, in fact, his own vindication. He never taught a duty that he did not live. He never preached a hope that he did not rest his full weight upon. His disciples were not literary or philosophic adherents or admirers; they were followers in action. Truth itself is merely a bullet. When the explosive power of life is placed behind it then only is it power. He only hath the Son who hath life.

The Christian is the man who partakes of this divine life. He is not a man who accepts a given code of morals. He is a man in whose soul there springs up a fountain of everlasting life that makes its own code of morals. He is the one man in all the world who is free from any code of morals. There is one law only that binds him, and that is the law that is inclusive of all morals—love.

THE COLONEL'S THEOLOGY.

The effort of Colonel Ingersoll to define Christianity in view of such facts is pathetic. We are sorry for a man who knows so little and yet talks so much about a subject so profound. He reminds me of a man who was fascinated with the discoveries of science. He declared with enthusiasm that he could understand how the astronomers could compute distances from star to star and give their relative proportions; but he said that the mystery of mysteries to him was how on earth they ever found out their names! Before such ignorance we stand dumb. We do not know where to begin. It is pathetic.

Third—The Christianity of Christ is that heart faith which embodies itself in a life of love. Colonel Ingersoll says that if the founder of Christianity had only said that "He who loves his fellow men, who is kind, honest, just and charitable is to be forever blest," all would have been well. How pathetic such a statement! If the New Testament teaches one thing with greater emphasis than another it is precicely this:

"Love one another."

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of life."

"All ye are brethren."

"Let no man seek his own, but each his neighbor's good."

"Love is the fulfillment of the law."

"The whole law is summed up in this one word—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self."

"And if I have all faith so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing."

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me."

LOVE INCARNATE.

Love is declared by Christ to be the one supreme principle upon which the final judgment is conducted. The life of Jesus Christ was a supreme service of love. He came to minister, not to be ministered unto. His life was one supreme mystery of love. He stands at the gates of the city and heals the sick. He unstops the ears of the deaf, opens the eyes of the blind, heals the lepers, weeps by the grave of the loved dead, calls back the broken life. His whole life was one supreme effort of love toward man. He broke his life as a box of rich perfume and poured it out without stint. He sought to give the world a home; he had none for himself. Foxes had holes and the birds of the air nests, but he had not where to lay his head.

To be a Christian is to believe in Christ; that is, not to believe anything about him, but to believe in him. That is, to eat his flesh and drink his blood, to partake of his life and his spirit! As he incarnated the truth, to incarnate the truth. As we incarnate his spirit, so are we of Christ. His spirit is the spirit of love. Love is the universal judge, the principle of love the only statute by which the race of man is to be arraigned. This principle is not confined in its application to the territory of the Bible or the preacher. It is not limited by the limitations of language.

THE VOICE OF TEARS.

Love is the universal language of the race in all ages, all nations, all climes. I may not be able to understand my neighbor in a foreign tongue, but if I see in his eye the tear of suffering, I know the language of tears. All hearts are tuned to the universal language of love. The sigh, the groan, the tear, the heartache are words known to every human heart and interpreted by every human heart. By this universal principle is man to be judged by Christ. The heathen world that has never heard of Christ shall rise before his throne and be judged by this eternal truth, and from among them there will be those who look in astonishment upon the face of the Judge and exclaim in wonder, "When saw we thee ahungered or athirst or sick or in prison or a stranger?" And Love from the throne of a universe shall answer: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these my brethren, in sorrow and suffering, ye did it unto me. Enter."

Faith is a moral attitude of the soul. Christianity is such a faith embodied in a life of love. A man who practices one thing and professes another is what he practices, not what he professes. Real Christianity is that power that transforms the life of man and rules it by the principle of love. So that a man who feels its divine power can walk up and take his enemy by the hand and forgive and forget all the bitterness and hatred of the past in the supreme thought of Christian love. The Christianity that has not this transforming power in life is a sham and a delusion. The Christianity that has this power is its own vindication, is invincible in its eternal power.

A DRUNKARD REDEEMED.

Mr. Moody was preaching in a foreign country. A drunken brute of a husband consented to accompany his wife to the meetings and leave her, while he went off again to his dissipation. The press at the door was so great he stopped for a moment to see his wife well through in safety. The pressure of the crowd was so great, however, that with her he was carried into the building against his will. While there he heard this simple apostle of Christ tell the old story of love. His soul was swept with its power. He opened the windows of his heart and the messenger of eternal love entered and took possession of his soul. He went back home with his wife crying with joy. His children at his approach hid in terror. He walked into his house and drew them from their hiding places; told them they need not fear. Said he: "You have a father now. There will be no more terror in this house."

Those who had known him laughed to scorn his professions. They gave him a few weeks in which to return to his wallowing, but from that day forth for seventeen years he has lived a life of tenderness and of love, of truth and of temperance, and over that home cursed with the shadow of sin and of selfishness and of brutality there has hovered the ministering angels of peace. Christianity is the power that transforms and redeems the soul of man and melts into love that which is of self and of sin. The Christianity that is less than this is not the Christianity of Christ.

Which Could Be the Better Spared?

In a certain village a tailor was condemned to be hanged. The inhabitants sent a deputation to the judge and modestly pleaded that his death would be a public inconvenience, since they had but this one tailor. "Spare him to us, therefore, and if you want to hang somebody we have two carpenters, and can easily spare one of them."

This was the kind of humor that once entertained the king and his courtiers.—All the Year Round.

Riding "Sit-ways."

Flossie had only been accustomed to seeing men on horseback, but one day some young ladies from town rode out to where she lived, and the sight of them pleased her greatly. She walked all around them on their horses, and finally coming back to her mother she remarked:

"Well, mamma, I dess if 'ey can ride sit-ways I'll det a horse and ride myse'f."—Detroit Free Press.

Asbestus Cushions for Boilers.

THE END OF A FEUD.

It Usually Comes When There Are Not Enough Survivors to Take Sides.

The Hatfield-McCoy feud may be over, and it may not. In all the cases ever known the feud died only when one of the families did the same. The Morton-Cummins feud in Texas belonged to this class.

The only man left of those two families now is Dan Morton. Three years ago he was dealing faro in El Paso. His face is like leather, and he is about as tough. Fear is a thing he does not know. He will probably die in his boots, because men of that sort are never pleasant to have about, and the community revolts occasionally.

But, to go back. How the thing started doesn't matter especially. Probably in the same way that it ended—in a saloon quarrel. This much is known: A Cummins shot a Morton; then the thing went on with deadly regularity until some six or seven had been killed on either side. Finally there were only two Mortons and one Cummins left. The latter had just killed one of his opponents and he lit out for other parts and kept away for a good many months.

One day Cummins came back. Everybody was offering bets that Dan Morton would shoot him on sight. Cummins thought so, too, but he had come back to try and settle the thing peaceably if he could, otherwise if it had to be. The two met in the natural course of events, and both started to reach for their guns. Cummins said his say, though, before the other got the cinch on him.

"Dan," he said, "this thing's gone far enough, an' I reckon we might as well quit. There's only me left, an' you too. Now what's the use of it, anyway?"

It struck Dan sort of reasonably, and he put up his gun.

"Believe ye're about right," he said. With that the two went into the Red Front saloon, and in another ten minutes the two were patting each other on the back, and telling each other what a pity it was they hadn't known before what good fellows they both were. They kept feeling better and better.

"An' none of it need hev happened," said Morton, "ef your Tom hadn't shot Morton."

"He didn't do it," said Cummins.

"He did."

The denial was too much for Cummins.

"You lie!" he hissed, and then in a minute all the sworn friendship of the last half hour went to the four winds and forgetfulness, and those two closed in a deadly struggle. Each was trying to reach for the other's gun. They surged all over the saloon. No one interfered for a while.

Then the other Morton, who had not trusted the newly made reconciliation, and had kept close by, stepped up to the two, and putting his pistol to Cummins' head, literally shot his head all to pieces.

And that ended the feud. The other Morton was killed shortly afterward in an ordinary quarrel, and Dan is now the only o[illegible] Tribune.

The Drummer's Little Story.

"I never felt myself floored but once in my life," said the drummer, with the air of a man who thinks he has something worth the telling. "It was down in Maine," he continued, after waiting long enough to set curiosity on an edge. "I'd been living on railway sandwiches for a week, and I just longed for a square meal. Well, we had to stop at a way station for a couple of hours on account of a hot box or something o' that sort, and one of the brakemen put me on to what he said was a first class restaurant. I looked it up and ordered a steak.

"The steak came, but it was a disappointment. I sawed away on it till my arms ached. It was out of the question to chew the small bits I tore off from it, though I tried hard. I gave it up finally, and as I paid my score I said incidentally, 'That's about the toughest eating I ever experienced.' He took the money, swept it into the drawer, and without a quiver he coolly remarked, 'You don't seem to consider how much good it'll do you in the way of exercise!'"—Boston Transcript.

Teachers of American.

Teachers of English are plentiful in this day and generation, but teachers of American are to be met with only at rare intervals. In this city, however, there are several of the latter who command good prices for their services, and who find ready employment at all times. Foreigners who have been taught English in the schools of their native land find themselves completely at sea on their arrival here, and many of them who can afford it employ teachers to instruct them in learning the peculiar idioms employed by the Americans. The localism especially they find most perplexing to master, and the teacher must be well up on all the mannerisms and slang expressions of the day. The bishop of the Russian church in this city has a young lady employed to teach him American, and he finds it a most necessary part of his education. —San Francisco Call.

Fish Charming.

One of the best fish stories told since the opening of the trout season is now going through the corridors of the leading hotels. It comes from Thomas Canary, the theatrical manager, and is being vouched for by Louis Robie. Mr. Canary spent the winter at St. Augustine, Fla., and returned to the city the other day. While in the south the genial Thomas took daily strolls along the beach to get an appetite for dinner.

One day he noticed a little colored boy lying upon his stomach along the bank of the river, with his eyes fixed upon the water. He watched the little fellow for fully fifteen minutes, but not a muscle of his body moved. A few minutes later he saw the boy make a plunge toward the surface of the water, and when he appeared again he held in his hand a good sized trout.

Tom thought that this was such an unusual thing that he offered the boy five cents for every trout he caught that afternoon. Thomas sat on the beach and watched the operation. The boy caught the trout so fast that Tom, fearing that he would be bankrupted, compromised with the lad. He declares that his curiosity was pretty expensive.

It is rather a common thing to see trout charming along the banks of the southern waters. The temperature is so mild and the water so clear that one can walk along the beach and see the fish jump almost a foot above the surface of the water.—New York Telegram.

TESTIMONIALS.

From Mr. J. S. Johnson, member Executive Committee N. C. State Alliance, and manager Alliance Warehouse at Danville, Va.

S. T. Morgan, Esq., Pres., Durham, N. C.

MY DEAR SIR: Yours of the 8th just to hand, am sorry I did not receive your circular letter, but am happy to say for your fertilizer that I do not know a single party among the numerous persons we delivered fertilizer to this season that is not perfectly satisfied with the results. Tobacco has fired some at the bottom, but they say that is entirely attributable to the wet season. I used eleven tons on my own farm, and have never used any fertilizer that has given such satisfactory results.

Very truly and respectfully yours,
J. S. JOHNSTON.

KINSTON, N. C., Oct. 2, 1891

W. H. Worth, S. B. A., Raleigh, N. C.

DEAR SIR AND BRO: Replying to your enquiry as to the results of Farmers' Alliance Official Guano on my crop, will say it was entirely satisfactory and was as good as I ever used.

J. M. MEWBOURNE.

Mr. Mewbourne is a member of the State Alliance Executive Committee.

We are in receipt of the following relating to the same subject matter from W. H. Worth, State Business Agent, North Carolina Farmers' Alliance, to wit:

[COPY.]

J. W. H. Worth, State Business Agent North Carolina Farmers' Alliance, certify that S. T. Morgan, President of the Durham Fertilizer Company, has shown me the original bills and analysis of the ingredients from which the Alliance Guano was made that was shipped to J. R. Smith at Mebane, N. C., and the books containing formula of the goods, and from the guaranteed analysis I have examined the Superintendent of the Durham Fertilizer Factory under oath, and he has thoroughly satisfied me as to the materials used in this particular lot of goods. I have had every opportunity, and have thoroughly examined the whole matter, and feel satisfied that no wrong has been done us.

(Signed) W. H. WORTH, S. B. A.

We have over 400 reports and testimonials covering over eighty counties. These reports are almost every one from an Alliance, not from individuals. The original copies of these reports can be seen in our office at Durham, N. C. The following are a sample of the reports received from the following counties, which will be supplemented by other counties every two weeks in these columns:

BLADEN COUNTY.

We, the undersigned committee of Pine Log Alliance: appointed to report on your fertilizer, beg leave to say that results from same have been better than from any fertilizer. All that have used it are well satisfied and expect to continue to use it so long as kept up to its present standard.

J. W. BERRY,
H. P. CLARK,
S. T. BUIE.

J. W. Caskwell, business agent of Crawley Alliance, says: The fertilizer we purchased of you this year is equally as good as that bought of you last year, and is the best fertilizer we have ever used. Will use no other while we can get the F. A. O Guano.

Business Agent W. D. Shaw, of No. 1841 Alliance, says: The car of guano I got from you gave perfect satisfaction on cotton and corn. Have heard of no complaint. All speak well of it. I have tried many kinds and find the Alliance Guano the cheapest and best. Our members expect to use it again if it can be got.

R. W. Cain, of Tar Heel, says: I have used the Alliance Guano this year with other high grade brands and cannot tell the difference in yield. The parties I ordered for last spring are well pleased with it.

PENDER COUNTY

ASHTON, N. C., Aug. 15, 1891.

Durham Fertilizer Company:—I can say, without fear of contradiction, that the fertilizer that our Alliance bought of your company last March excells anything that I have ever tried in the shape of a fertilizer. On my cotton the weed surpassed any growth that I have ever had on the same land and, notwithstanding the excessive heavy rains that we have had recently it is fruiting finely. I have tried a few sacks of other brands of guano this season in the same field and notwithstanding it cost me considersably more per sack, the Alliance Guano is far superior. I have heard other members of the Alliance express their feelings in regards your fertilizer, they are perfectly delighted with the results.

C. H. ARNSTRONG.

PACE P. O., N. C.

Gents.—In regard to action of Durham Fertilizer on crops up to present time have been entirely satisfactory. The Durham, side by side with other standard fertilizer, is equal if not superior to other brands.

J. H. ALDERMAN, B. A. No. 847.

BURGAW, N. C., Aug. 20, 1891.

Will say the guano bought of you last spring compares favorably with any used in my county this season so far as I have heard. J. F. JOHNSON, A. A.

WILLARD, N. C., Aug. 10, 1892.

Durham Fertilizer Co: I bought 18 tons of your fertilizer last year for myself and neighbors and we were all well pleased with it I bought thirty tons this year and am so well pleased with it I expect to buy sixty next year.

E. M. JOHNSON, Sheriff Pender Co.

BURGAW, N. C., Aug. 10, 1861.

Durham Fertilizer Company:—I take pleasure in saying, that, in my opinion, the Alliance Guano I bought from you this season stands fair to give me better results than any brand I have ever used. I ordered several tons for my neighbors and not one has yet complained, but speak in the highest terms of its quality.

J. B MOORE.

W. T. Moore, B. A., Moores Creek Alliance No. 863 says: "We are all well pleased with your fertilizer. Has acted better for us than other brands."

"The Boldest, Ablest and most Original Magazine in America."—Jewish Times and Observer.

THE ARENA for 1892 will eclipse its previous brilliant record in the strength and ability of its contributions. As in the past, it will continue to be the most aggressive, fearless and outspoken review of the age. All great living issues will be fully, freely and impartially discussed by the foremost thinkers of our day. Great wrongs and growing evils will be unmasked without fear or favor, while the root problems underlying civilization will be more fully discussed than in the pages of any other review.

SOME SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1892.

I. "A SPOIL OF OFFICE," by Hamlin Garland, which opens in the January ARENA. This is, without question, one of the greatest novels ever written by an American author. It deals with the social, economic and political condition of the modern West, and is characterized by beauty and strength. A golden thread of love runs through the woof and web of this great story, which opens in Iowa, shifts its scenes to Kansas and closes in the National Capitol. "A Spoil of Office" will be the most talked of story of 1892 and you should read it

II. POPULAR SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC PROBLEMS. It will be an encyclopedia of social, economic and political information, giving its readers a masterly exposition of the true conditions and needs of the present, depicting the evils of the hour, and suggesting remedis calculated to secure a wider meed of justice and liberty for the great toiling millions of our land. From its inception THE ARENA has been the steadfast champion of people absolutely fearless in its denunciation of plutocracy, monopoly and all means and measures which wrong the multitude or infringe upon the liberty of the humblest citizen.

III. PSYCHICAL SCIENCE. During 1892 THE ARENA will have the ablest most authorative and brilliant series of papers ever published on psychical science, by leading thinkers of the new world and the old.

IV. THE CONDITION OF WOMAN THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. Recognizing the fact that the present is the cycle of woman, THE ARENA for 1892 will contain a brilliant and powerful series of papers on the condition of woman throughout the world. The opening paper appears in the January number, by Prof. A. N. Jannaris, P. D., of the National University of Greece. It is on "Woman in Mohommedan Lands."

V. SCIENTIFIC PAPERS. Popular papers on scientific subjects by the most profound thinkers of the age will also be a feature of THE ARENA for 1892. The first paper of this series appears in the December ARENA, by the eminent French astronomer, Camille Flammarion on "Recent Discoveries in the Heavens." The second is by the great English scientist, Alfred Russel Wallance, on "Human Progress, Past and Future."

VI RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS will be fully and freely presented by the master spirits in each department of thought.

VII. SHORT STORIES AND BIOGRAPHIES. Each issue will contain, in addition to Mr. Garland's great novel, a brilliant short story or a biography of some eminent person; thus every member of the family will hail the arrival of THE ARENA with delight.

VIII. FULL PAGE PORTRAITS AND ILLUSTRATIONS. Each issue will contain superb full-page portraits of distinguished personages, with autographs printed on heavy plate paper.

A FEW CONTRIBUTORS TO THE ARENA.

In order to indicate the breadth, scope and authoritative character of the contributions to THE ARENA, we mention a few recent contributors: Pres. Chas. W. Eliot, of Harvard, Alfred Russel Wallace, D. C. L., Camille Flammeron, Emilo Castelar, Rev. Lyman Abott, D. D., Mary A. Livermore, Rev. Minot J. Savage, Count Leo Tolstoi, Prof. N. S. —Mr. Henry Grady, the talented young son of Hon. B. F. Grady, has been elected President of the Literary Society of the Peabody Institute, it was compliment to any one, but a specially one who had been there only a few weeks.

—Business men advertise solely for the purpose of increasing their trade, and probably few of them measure the benefits of their investment in this line other than by its direct returns. Nevertheless, there is a positive though indirect advantage gained by liberal advertising aside from that which results in drawing immediate customers for the wares described. The character of a town or city is estimated largely from its newspapers, and strangers gain a favorable or unfavorable impression of a place according as these papers show enterprise or the lack of it on the part of the residents. Free and liberal advertising means enterprising, wide-awake merchants and manufacturers, and the presence of such men is the best recommendation a town can have. Advertising attracts customers, but it attracts outside investors as well and helps to build up the place. THE CAUCASIAN now has a much larger and wider circulation, than ever before, and the more advertisements it contains of private business concerns the more public interests are served.

EDUCATION IN SAMPSON.

prepare them to take the places of the old who are passing away. The first session has opened well, and the school bids fair to rank with any of her sisters.

GLENWOOD HIGH SCHOOL.

Near the line between the counties of Johnston and Sampson is a beautiful school building known as Glenwood High School, projected and supported by the citizens of Johnston and Sampson under the leadership of Mr. S. E. Spence, which is emitting its rays of light to the two counties.

PARKERSBURG HIGH SCHOOL.

In McDaniel's township on a beautiful elevation overlooking the village of Parkersburg, is Parkersburg High School, holding out her lights, as beacons to those on life's journey. Mr. Thorp has just closed a successful term here. These schools are all doing much towards popularizing education by sending out good and true men and women for the various stations of life.

CLINTON SCHOOLS.

What shall I say of the schools in Clinton? Here are three excellent schools, for primary classes, taught respectively by Misses Brown and Alby and Mrs. Turner. In Clinton Male Academy, unoccupied, there ought to be at least seventy-five boys, and in Clinton Female Institute, where there ought to be one hundred and twenty-five girls, there is only a primary school.

Why is this? and how long will this state of affairs exist? Will not the enterprising citizens of Clinton come together, unite and do one or two things, either build up the two institutions or unite them into a graded school? If they will establish a graded school the people from the surrounding country will join them, but the citizens of Clinton must take the lead. A school of this kind will not cost more than $2,000 or $2,500. A superintendent at a salary of $1,000 and two or three assistants can do all the work. Let each man subscribe the amount he is willing to give annually for education and the amount will soon be raised. There are over two hundred white children within the corporate limits of Clinton—enough to start a right good school. Now with these two hundred children and those that can be secured from the country, there will be no doubt that the first session will open with three hundred pupils.

With a small effort on the part of a few interested persons all the money necessary, both for buildings and tuition, can be easily raised. Who will take the lead and do more good for Clinton than all other enterprises combined?

In future articles I will write of the public schools and improvements throughout the counties.

The contesting exercises between the Pullen and Leazar Literary Societies took place Friday evening, 19th instant. Not withstanding the inclemency of the weather, there was a large crowd assembled in the College Chapel; among whom were the young ladies or Peace Institute, to hear the contest. The discussion was to be rendered in favor of the Society that acquitted itself the best as a whole.

MINGO.

Miss Amelia Herring has just opened school in a new school house (one without name) near Mingo church. I am very glad to hear of schools in all sections of the county. Miss Herring is said to be a good instructor and I hope will build up a good school.

Mr. Isham Lockamy of lower Sampson has been teaching a free school in high Sampson, near Spring Branch, for nearly four months and the commencement comes off the 27. A nice time is expected, that is with the children and patrons of the school. Mr. Lockamy has given satisfaction.

Mr. George E. Johnson of Mix P. O., was married to Mrs. Frances Goodman of Dunn, N. C., on Feb. 11, 1892.

Mr. H. M. Warren has just closed a free school in upper Cumberland and I hear is going South to spend the spring and summer. We hope him much success.

The welcome literary debating society will close for two months the 4 of March. The debating society was organized the 12th of August with few members, but since has grown to be a fine society, probably one of the best in the county.

Rev. L. J. Moore of Wayne county filled his appointment at Bethesda Saturday and Sunday last.

Farmers are in a fearful condition not knowing what to do as to planting cotton and buying guano. I say plant less cotton and raise more corn.

J. B. P.

NEWTON GROVE.

Some of our hay seeders are going to try truck this year, at least for a change.

One of our most successful farmers claims that he can't make cotton without guano. He says he will not make any this year.

The difference in length of our longest and shortest man is three feet. They are both about 40 years old.

Leap year parties have not opened yet, but we have seen some buds swelling, which we think will open soon as weather gets a little warmer. WE.

One of the four schools that were in progress in Newton Grove township, I allude to the dancing school, conducted under the auspices of a young female expert has gone up. Considering the awkardness of her class she thought it advisable to cease operations, rather than be responsible for the necks and limbs of her class.

There is in the township an old gentleman who is an expert at smoking. It is said that he can catch a match and light his pipe in a cyclone. A young Pedagogue who has located in this vicinity called on this expert on one occasion to form his acquaintance, and also others of the family as well as seeing the old man enjoying himself so hugely, concluded he would take a course of instructions in the science, so the old gentleman proceeded to instruct him in the primary principals of the science. The young Pedagogue goes to his place of abode well pleased, fixes him up long stem pipe, fires up, takes the road for his school room puffing away, with THE CAUCASIAN in his front scanning the news. Being so much absorbed in his new enterprise, he lets his paper catch on fire and nearly burn up, before he could extinguish it. I would not have you ignorant of the fact that the old expert has a lovely daughter, and our young student is very punctual in his attendance. ONE.

HONEYCUTTS.

LaGrippe and hog cholera are still prevalent up here.

Farmers are busy with crops. Not much cotton is going to be planted.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. W. Baggette, Miss Lula Baggett to Mr. Miles Jackson. Mr. Josiah Baggett officiating. The attendants were, Mr. Luther Baggett, Miss Victoria Tew; G. P. Jones, Miss Sarah Warren; Julius S. Tew, Miss Cordelia Warren; Amma B. Jones, Miss Ozella Royal. May the happy couple live a long and happy life. A SUBSCRIBER.

PINEY GROVE.

We are pained to hear of the death of Miss Mary Britt who died the 13th with typhoid fever, age about 16 years. She was a good girl and leaves lots of relatives to mourn her loss. She, will be greatly missed in this vicinity.

The farmers are behind with their work but they are doing a great deal now. They have done lots of it for the past two weeks.

Mr. Hubbard Andrews left some time ago for Winston. Mr. Andrews was a very clever young man and we regret to loose him.

The Goshen Demorest club met and held a contest at Smiths Chapel last Saturday night. The preformance wrre very good and a large crowd present. Miss Verginia E. Sutton, one of Goshen's most charming and blue eyed Belles, won the medal. Subject, "A contest for truth." The judges were, Miss Ola Barful, Mr. William Hood, and Mr. J. F. Westbrook. After all the other work was done Mr. A. Standly, who was called to deliver the medal made a very short and good little speech which will be long remembered. D.

Nearly Three Thousand.

We have striven hard to reach 3000 subscribers, so that we could put the price of the paper at $1.00 a year, and we wish to thank many of our friends who have kindly assisted by sending in new subscribers. But to have 3000 paid subscribers, it is not only necessary to get a few more new ones, but it is also necessary to keep the old ones. That is, it is necessary for those who are still behind to pay up and to renew for $1.00 in advance We believe that every one who is behind on our books intends to pay, if we did not we would mark him off immediately. This is a liberal offer we have made and all ought to take advantage of it. So, for the benefit of those who are still due something and with the hope of adding many more new subscribers, we will make one more offer. We will extend our proposition through the month of February. See our premium offer for clubs and for new subscribers in another column.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

[THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the Official Organ of the Sampson County Alliance at the meeting in January 19th, 1889.]

UNION ALLIANCE.

Keener Union met according to announcement at King's Alliance Saturday, the 13th, at 10 o'clock. Although a cold, windy morning, yet more than two hundred were present. The following Alliances were represented: Keener, Poplar Grove, Piney Grove, Goshen, King's and Bluff, which now constitute the Union.

At the appointed hour the President, Maj. J. S. Hines, called the meeting to order. After prayer by the Chaplain, the President introduced Mr. J. E. Fowler, of Beaver Dam Academy. Brother Fowler spoke one and a half hours on the financial system, showing how it had produced on the one hand millionaires and on the other paupers. The speaker further stated that there was a remedy for the farmer in the Sub-Treasury Plan, and the Ocala platform was true Democracy. His speech had a good effect. A bountiful dinner was prepared by the ladies who are always ready with open hearts, and willing hands to help better the condition of their country, their husbands, sons and daughters.

In the afternoon a secret session was held, The Secretary was requested to report to the National Economist, Progressive Farmer and THE CLINTON CAUCASIAN, that the members of this Union ask all cotton farmers to use their best efforts to buy guano for cotton payments upon the basis of 200 pounds for kainit, 225 pounds for acid phosphate, and 325 pounds for standard brands.

John A. Oates, Sr., Dr. J. Darden and Henry J. Faison, the committee on queries, reported the following for discussion at the next Union: "Why was Silver Demonetized, and will Free Coinage be a Benefit to the Farmer?" Dr. J. H. Darden and J. D. Ezzell were appointed speakers.

J. H. Packer, of Keener, was elected Chaplain.

Col. W. E. Hill, of Duplin, being present, was called on and responded in a sound logical speech on the Alliance demands, declaring that through the reform movement of the Alliance the agriculturist would get a just reward for his labors.

The meeting was very enthusiastic and showed renewed determination on the part of the members to be more zealous in their advocacy of Alliance demands.

J. S. HINES, President.
J. D. EZZELL, Secretary.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

A DOLLAR KISS.

A dispatch from Birmingham, Alabama, says: In Geneva county, a jury, by its verdict, settled the value of kisses in this State. A young fellow named William Horton, was indicted for assault and battery on Miss Sallie Jones. The testimony of the young woman was that Horton had laid violent hands on her and kissed her against her will. Horton testified that the kiss was with Miss Sallie's free consent, and that he had kissed her one hundred and fifty times before. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty, and assessed a fine of $150, stating that kisses in Geneva were worth $1 each.

LAUNDRY LESSONS.

Put white clothes to soak over night in tubs of cold water with a tablespoonful of powdered borax in each tub.

Iron white clothes on the right side, but calicoes, ginghams, etc., on the wrong side to produce the lustreless effect seen in the new material before it has been laundried.

White silk handkerchiefs must not be dampened but pressed with a moderate iron when entirely dry.

Ink stain and iron mould must have a plaster of lemon juice and salt applied, and then be put in the sun.

Do not rub flannels on a board. The main thing is quick drying, and that they be washed and rinsed in water of the same temperature very quickly, and not allowed to cool between.

In making starch, boil it at least one hour, then add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to half a gallon of starch. Clothes done up in this starch will have a peculiar soft stiffness, and will not "muss" as soon as you put them on.—American Farmer.

HOW TO SPOIL A HUSBAND.

Even the best of husbands resembles ordinary mortals in one trifling characteristic—there are some things he likes to do, and some other things he decidedly objects to doing, writes Christine Terhune Herrick, in an article on "How to Spoil a Husband" in the February Ladies' Home Journal. And among the latter may be included divers useful and admirable occupations, which do not happen to commend themselves to his taste. In nine cases out of ten she wise, instead of attempting gently and firmly to conquer his disinclination to these pursuits humors him in his objections to them, and thus unwittingly sows the seeds of future annoyance and trial for herself. Nearly every man has some weakness. One dislikes to put on his dress suit when he goes out with his wife in the evening, preferring to mortify her by appearing in morning dress when other men are en grand tenue. Another protests against going out in the evening at all. A third objects to waiting upon himself in such matters as putting away his clothing or papers, while a fourth has a well-rooted custom of unpunctuality at meals. Others have unpleasant little personal habits, such as a preference for sitting in their shirt sleeves on warm days, or a trick of picking their teeth or cleaning their nails elsewhere than in private. Or perhaps one and all have some pet slang phrase, or prevarication, or grammatical inaccuracy, that horribly on ears polite. If the wife condones these offences in the early days of married life, when here influence with her husband can compass almost anything, she may reign herself to the conviction that she will never eradicate the habits she condemns.

Any reforms the wife attempts to pursue should be conducted with the utmost gentleness. We none of us like to be reminded that we are not perfect, and it is intensely unpleasant to learn that our best-beloved do not consider us impeccable. The wife must bear this in mind; put herself in her husband's place and resolve to be tender as well as firm. An appeal to his love for her, to her pride in him, his sense of justice and his sense of what is right, is almost always a sure plea, and the result, when she succeeds, justifies her efforts and compensates for her pains.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

MAKE YOUR COMPOSTS.

Manure should be carefully saved, best under shelter where rains cannot reach it, nor sun overheat it. For a corn or cotton crop compost the following is a good formula for a ton:

Stable manure,	600 lbs.
Kainit,	200 "
Acid Phosphate,	800 "
Cotton Seed,	400 "

In the sandy soil of the east, kainit is essential and may be creased. Its value as a rust preventive is well known. Lay down under shelder some of the manure, then a layer of acid phosphate, then cotton seed, sprinkling each layer with kainit dissolved in water, until all materials are used up. Wet the heap if it heats. If the manure is well rotted the heap should stand three or four weeks. To thoroughly kill the seed then mix well before using.—N. C. Experiment Station.

The turnip crop is the latest of all to be cleared from the land. It is not injured by light freezing. Rye is the only grain that can be sown after a turnip crop. Often it barely comes up before winter stops its growth, but on fairly rich land it will be nearly as forward next summer as rye sown a month earlier. The fall growth of winter grain only counts as help to make it alive through the winter.—American Cultivator.

The value of soapsuds as a fertilizer has long been known, but it gets its value from the nitrogen furnished in the grease and potash being so chemically united in the soap as to be all immediately available, and by its liquid form evenly distributed through the soil. A liquid fertilizer made by dissolving muriate of potash and nitrate of soda would undoubtedly be of great benefit to many crops and vines which are known to thrive by application of soapsuds.—Ex.

POTATOES.

I began growing potatoes by planting thirty bushels per acre, raising good crops, but soon learned more good potatoes can be grown from 3½ bushels cut fine. Potatoes should always be in drills, even spaced, and never spread as in the old form of hills. Then the cultivator will work close to the row, covering nearly the whole surface. Harrowing potatoes is entirely feasible any time they are under six inches high.—C. G. C., in American farmer.

Apples grown upon trees fertilized in spring with unleached wood ashes keep sound all the winter.

HE'S A CHUMP.

Who's a chump?

The man who works hard to make his farm worth $2,600 and votes to reduce its value to $1,000.

The man who works hard to double the prodacts of his farm and votes to reduce their price one-half.

The man who works hard to earn clothes for his own children, and votes them to another man's children.

The man who works and prays 364 days in a year, and on the 365th day votes away half his earnings and says he's worse than an infidel; he won't provide for his own family.

The man who prays that this "earth may be as the kingdom of Heaven" and votes to make it a political hell.

Vote the way you pray.—National Reformer.

The Batchelor has stoped corresponding with the paper for some cause or other. We would like to know why, and also what has become of Plug.

DOVE.

On the night of Feb 13th as we stood looking northward, a strange phenomenon presented itself, a brilliant red belt lay just above the horizon. Every few moments it gave varied and magnificient changes. Bright, perpendicular rays, shot high up in the heavens like rivers of molten silver, changing quickly to a dark red color and then vanishing, to give place for a golden colored rays. It was the Aurora Borealis, or to use the common phraze, northern lights. It was the most beautiful scene we ever beheld.

Mr. W. T. Hall of Cumberland county is going to move to this neighborhood. We welcome him, as he is full of fun, and also a musician.

Mr. James Riley lost a 75 barrel Tarkiln, nearly completed, by fire on the 12th inst.

LaGrippe is taking its talous out of this vinicity, and we hope it will never grip us again. Our local poet gets off the following

"Oh the grip, the terrible grip,
It makes you sneeze and twist your lip. Your eyes turn red, and your poor head aches. You imagine you see a bushel of snakes, Your whole anatomy quivers and quades, Oh; the grip, what a trouble it makes."

Mr. B. Geddie lost his residence by fire on the 11 inst.

We hear of a young man in this vicinity, who is clerking in a store and also cooking for a large family. Girls get him if you can.

Hunting time has come, and the yell of the hunter is heard in the land. "GIL."

FRANKLIN.

Mrs. N. G. Shaw is very sick with LaGrippe. Mr. W. W. Fennell is still very sick.

Another assignment, Franklin seems to be noted for such things.

There will be a big auction sale at Harrell's Store on the 26th day of Feb. Stills, mill, stock of goods, cattle etc.

I don't think the farmers in our section are going to plant much cotton nor buy much guano. This is wisdom on their part.

Mr. J. B. Seavey, one of our cleverest young men has his new seine in readniss for the shad.

Mr. Daniel Robinson had his hand badly hurt in a corn sheller a few days ago.

Much success to THE CAUCASIAN. SUBSCRIBER.
